GenPower identifies, evaluates, and pursues select opportunities to develop and operate sustainable energy projects across a broad spectrum of technologies, fuels, and business models. Our uniquely qualified and experienced team enables us to target the safest, cleanest, and most cost effective solutions for reliable power supply generation.

Our commitment to sustainable practices ensures that our projects meet or surpass regulatory criteria. And our flexible, value driven business model encourages the development of a diverse portfolio of joint venture, greenfield, merchant, acquisition, and strategic partnership opportunities that provide the most efficient projects and the greatest value to participants and investors.

Who We Are

Established to develop, acquire, own, and operate energy facilities, with a primary focus on natural gas, wind, renewable energy projects and clean coal technologies, the Company has extensive experience with myriad traditional and renewable fuels, including biomass, hydro, coal, natural gas and wind.

To date, GenPower and its predecessors have successfully developed over $5 billion in power generation assets. Its committed, veteran leadership brings unrivaled industry experience to local communities, governments, and investors, ensuring that GenPower projects offer power that is cost effective, environmentally progressive, and sustainable.

GenPower Holdings is owned by GenPower management and First Reserve Corporation, the oldest and largest private equity firm focused exclusively on energy investments.
